BRITISH SOLDIERS IN JERUSALEM SLAIN BY ASSASSIN'S BULLET

Two Members of Royal Highland Regiment Killed While Walking Along Main Street of City—Arab Gunman and Accomplice Escape—Precautions Taken to Prevent Outbreak

JERUSALEM, Nov. 5 (CP-Havas).—Two soldiers of the Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment) were shot to death by an Arab as they strolled, off duty, along Jerusalem's main street at 7 o'clock tonight.

It was the most serious attack on Britons in Palestine since Lewis Yelland Andrews, district commissioner for Galilee, and his bodyguard were murdered September 26 at Nazareth.

Tension in the Holy Land increased as authorities hunted the Arab assassin and an accomplice, who made a successful escape.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

The fact the slayings occurred in the heart of Jerusalem added to the gravity with which they were viewed. Precautions were taken to prevent the shootings from setting the spark to city-wide outbreaks. Punitive measures were predicted in the event any tendency was found among Arab extremists to make capital of the confusion created by the shootings.

Despatches told of renewed terrorist activity in outlying cities. The worst outbreak occurred at Beisan, whose police station was the target for half-hour ambush, during which 100 shots were fired.

FIRST PHASE COMPLETED

Franco Aiming to Split Catalonia From Other Government Territory

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Nov. 5 (AP).—Spanish insurgent sources reported tonight Generalissimo Francisco Franco had completed the first phase of a carefully planned campaign to smash through Aragón into the heart of Government Spain.

Spanish foreign legionnaires and Moroccan infantrymen today stormed San Pedro Hill, east of Jaca, twenty miles south of the French border. In the briefest of a series of bitterly-fought attacks against key points on the long eastern civil war front.

HOURS OF FIGHTING

Insurgent military dispatches said the heavily fortified hill dominating the valley of the Gállego River was taken after hours of close fighting. Franco is seeking to split Catalonia from the rest of Government-held territory.

These encounters of the last two weeks had seemed to outside observers as localized attacks until they emerged as an essential part of Franco's war plans.

In view of the small territory captured, the insurgent activity had appeared not worth the loss of lives, ammunition and time. Insurgent staff officers, however, were reported pleased at the capture of the strategic points needed for the general offensive.

Will Change Regulations For Pensions

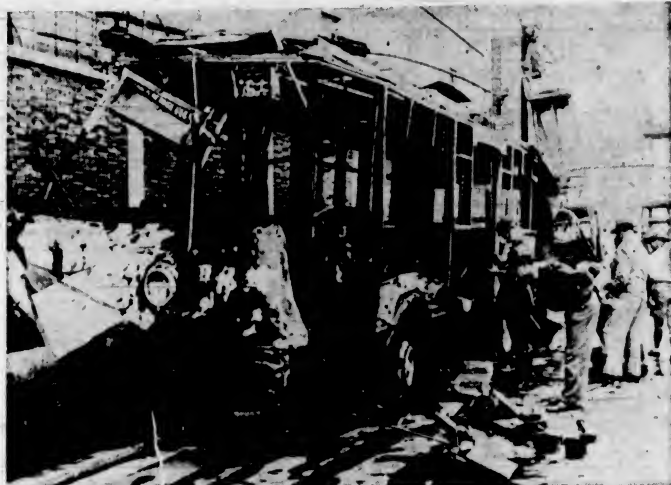

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (AP).—New regulations and amendments to those now in use were unanimously adopted by the Dominion-Provincial Conference on old-age pensions, which closed a four-day session here tonight. The changes will not be made public until they have been approved by the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

Finance Minister Dunning, who called and presided over the conference, expressed great satisfaction at the "co-operation and constructive attitude" that marked the deliberations.

After Bomb Struck Shanghai Tram Car

Twelve persons were killed and eighteen injured when a Japanese bomb recently demolished a trackless tram car in Shanghai, on the south side of Soochow Creek. The tram at the time was within the International Settlement defence sector. Photo shows wreckage of the erstwhile modern type of street car.

Rift Between Germany and Poland Eased by Declaration

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (CP-Havas).—A major source of friction between Germany and Poland appeared eliminated tonight with publication here and in Warsaw of identical government declarations pledging respect for the rights of German and Polish minorities in both countries.

An important phase of the accord was a promise of both countries not to attempt assimilation of, or pressure on, members of either minority group, particularly with respect to youth organizations.

In addition to the official declaration, it was learned, Chancellor Hitler assured Polish Ambassador Josef Lipski during an interview today the Danzig question could in no manner trouble German-Polish relations.

Highway Questions Ruled Out by Vote In B.C. Legislature

Speaker, and Government, Sustained 25-14 in First Test of Voting Strength in Nineteenth Legislature—Car Drivers to Be Examined

BEFORE recessing for its second week-end yesterday the B.C. Legislature ran into the first division of the session. The House voted 25-14 to sustain Mr. Speaker Whittaker's ruling that questions asked by R. L. Maitland, K.C. (Conservative), about road expenditures in an election-year were out of order, as the Government had contended. Conservatives, Independents and the C.C.F. voted solidly against the ruling, and Mr. Maitland may renew his questions in amended form.

The division was recorded, as follows:

RECORDED VOTE

Sustaining the chair: Messrs. Patullo, Wymer, Weir, MacDonald, Gray, Pearson, MacPherson, Carson, Asselstine, Tupper, Connolly, Forster, Bryan, Putnam, Kenney, Burns, King, Leary, Strath, LeBourdais, Crone, Henniger, Bull, Braden and Johnston—25.

Against the ruling: Messrs. Maitland, Anascomb, Paton, Macintosh, Eyres, Finland, Hunter, Bruhn, Telford, (Mrs.) Brewes, H. Winch, Guthrie, Cameron and Shepherd—14.

GOLD TAKES BIG JUMP IN PRICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP).—Instant reports from the United States would raise its buying price for gold to a smart rally in the stock market today, but a later reaction cut or erased most gains.

In London gold was in demand for hoarding, the free market price rising at one time by more than thirty-four cents an ounce in terms of United States parity.

So heavy was the demand for the metal that the London price jumped to the equivalent of $35.10 an ounce, compared with the United States treasury's buying rate of $35, and the "parity" rate of $34.78, at which it is profitable to buy gold in London for shipment to the United States.

BIG REARMAMENT PROGRAMME BEING FULFILLED AT RAPID RATE

Chinese Concerned Over Army's Fate In Northern Hills

NANKING, Nov. 6 (CP-Havas).—Chinese political quarters today expressed concern over the fate of a "lost" army of 80,000 Chinese soldiers fighting in the wild North Shanai mountain passes. It had not been heard from since October 25. A majority of its soldiers belong to the old Chinese "Red Army"—now Nanking's Eighth Army.

Wire Hitler Horror at Executions

LONDON, Nov. 5 (CP-Havas).—Thirty Opposition members of the House of Commons tonight sent a telegram to Chancellor Hitler, expressing their "horror and disgust" at the execution yesterday of Adolf Rembe, thirty-five, former German trade union leader, and Robert Stamm, thirty-seven, ex-Reichstag member, on charges of treason.

Rembe and Stamm were convicted last July 4 on charges they had plotted for the Communist Internationale to form an illegal organization jeopardizing the safety of the state.

JAPANESE IN NEW SECTOR

Troops Land at Hangchow Bay—Chinese Reported Still in Retreat

SHANGHAI, Nov. 5 (AP).—The Japanese officially announced today the successful landing of large army units from Hangchow Bay, beginning operations against Chifu on a new front.

(Hangchow Bay, the largest inlet on the coast of China, is south of Shanghai. It is approximately thirty miles from Shanghai to the nearest part of the bay.)

Sanguinary but indecisive fighting meanwhile was raging over a battle line stretching from the border of Shanghai's International Settlement westward for ten miles.

Japanese spokesmen said the objective of the landings from Hangchow Bay was to encircle Shanghai and adjoining territory.

They said the army and navy co-operated in the operation, which was successful despite an unfavorable tide, fog and difficult terrain.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

The Chinese were reported to have been taken by surprise and the Japanese, quickly breaking through the defenses, began organizing an inland offensive.

The Japanese declined to state the number of troops involved or the points at which they landed.

South of Hangchow Bay, Chinese reported they repulsed six attempts by Japanese marines to land on Yuhwan Island, between Wenchow and Hangchow.

LONDON HONORS EARL BALDWIN

Lord Mayor Pays High Tribute—Former Premier Speaks for "Team"

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—The City of London paid tribute to Earl Baldwin today as embodying "all that is best in the national character."

Recognizing his many years of public service, the City presented the former Prime Minister with a gold casket containing an address, illuminated on parchment, in a ceremony steeped in stately pomp and pageantry.

Richly robed in gold and black, the Lord Mayor, Sir George Broadbridge, recalled Lord Baldwin's eminent services to the Empire and declared no other man excelled him in expressing all that was best in the national character. It was given to few men, the Lord Mayor declared, to step down from high office with the universal appreciation of all men.

FOR HIS TEAM

Lord Baldwin replied he accepted praise for the "whole team." Noting Prime Minister Chamberlain was present, he said: "How fortunate was I in surrendering my office into the hands of His Majesty to know it would be filled at once by a man who has every gift of character and intellect and to be sure he would maintain in the fullest integrity all the traditions and greatness of his high office."

Referring to Ramsay MacDonald, who retired at the same time as Lord Baldwin, but declined a peerage, he declared: "I never feel he has had credit given him by the country for the services he rendered in 1931 and the years immediately succeeding. A better colleague I could not have desired."

Secret Developments in Land Defence Expected To Make Great Britain Invulnerable to Air Attack—Industrial System Now Working Full Blast on Production of Munitions

Hundred and Fifty Warships Already Being Constructed

LONDON, Nov. 5 (CP-Havas).—Great Britain's vast rearmament programme has developed at such a pace that officials in charge of it now believe the United Kingdom, in five or six years, will be invulnerable to attack from the air. This conviction, based on secret developments in land defence, stands out as the most salient fact in the current stage of the programme, which has so far cost £228,000,000 ($1,138,000,000).

The period of preparation has passed and the United Kingdom's huge industrial system has been turned full blast to production of the engines of attack and defence.

EFFORTS AMPLY REWARDED

Production has not followed precisely the course originally mapped out, since some phases have been retarded and others are ahead of schedule. A glance at the results of the last two years leaves no doubt, however, the effort expended by Sir Thomas Inskip, Defence Co-ordination Minister, is being amply rewarded.

NATIONS SIGN ANTI-RED PACT

Germany, Italy and Japan Agree to Oust Communism From Affairs

ROME, Nov. 5 (CP-Havas).—The Italo-German Japanese anti-Communist accord uniting the strongest anti-Soviet elements in two hemispheres will be signed at the Palazzo Venezia tomorrow.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's right-hand man, whose formal post is at the Embassy in London, arrived today empowered to sign on behalf of the Reich.

It is known now that Von Ribbentrop's visit here on October 22, followed by that of Kintomo Matsuoka, the Japanese Ambassador to Berlin, finally resulted in the Italian decision to join Germany and Japan in their anti-red pact. Von Ribbentrop and Matsuoka signed the German-Japanese accord on November 25, 1936.

OFFENSIVE ACTION

The tripartite accord will follow the same lines as the German-Japanese pact. It will be theoretically directed against intervention of the Communist International in the affairs of nations. Then signatories will agree to inform each other on Communist activity and to co-operate in defensive action.

It is also likely the agreement will embody a clause inviting other powers to join.

UTTERS HINT OF FRESH SURPRISES

German Propaganda Minister Goebbels Admits Secrecy of Policies in Reich

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (AP).—Dr. Paul Goebbels, Propaganda Minister, tonight ridiculed any belief that friendship of Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy meant war. The Propaganda Minister hinted at new diplomatic surprises to be given the world by Germany.

It was necessary, he said, to keep certain decisions secret, as, for instance, the secrecy observed before military service was re-established in Germany in disregard of provisions of the Versailles post-war treaty.

"Even today there exist in our internal policies, our economic policies, our foreign policies questions which must be kept secret still," he said.

Fish-Packer Was Damaged Forward When Hit by Scow

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5 (AP).—A salvage crew early today succeeded in raising the Pacifico, of the British Columbia Packers, Ltd., which sank when struck by a scow—Tuesday at the mouth of the Fraser River, a few miles south of here.

The fish-packer was beached and examination disclosed she had been loaded forward.

WINNIEPESAUER MATRIMONY CANDIDATE

WINNIEPESAU, Nov. 5 (AP).—T. W. Klushaw, auctioneer, tonight announced his candidature for the Winnipeg mayoralty as an Independent. Mayor F. E. Warriner, Independent, and John Queen, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate, also are in the field for the November 28 civic elections.

FORTY LOYALIST PLANES BOMB CITY

MADRID, Nov. 5 (AP).—Forty Government bombing planes raided the city of Zaragoza, insurgent stronghold in the Aragón sector, today, causing huge explosions and fires. Exact damage was not known, but a Government communiqué said the planes bombed "military objectives" and returned safely to their base.

Gives Account of Great Convention Held in Old Land

Miss Grace Fairley, R.N., Addresses Meeting of British Columbia Registered Nurses' Association at Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Home—Recalls Visit to Florence Nightingale's Home

DESCRIPTION of a reception at Buckingham Palace, where with other members of the Grand Council she was presented to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and the Dowager Queen Mary; and of a visit to the old Florence Nightingale home at Embley, East Wellow, Hampshire, from which she brought back cones from the great Cedar of Lebanon under which Florence Nightingale was accustomed to hold her Sunday school class, were among the highlights of the delightfully informal talk given by Miss Grace M. Fairley, R.N., at the joint meeting of the British Columbia Registered Nurses' Association and the local Graduate Nurses' Association held at the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' home last night.

Miss Fairley recently returned from London, where she went as one of the Canadian delegates to attend the International Nurses' Congress and the meeting of the Florence Nightingale Foundation. While the business sessions occupied many strenuous hours, there were numerous expeditions, banquets, receptions and other social events, description of which made a particularly attractive part of the report.

At Embley the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Crossfield, gave them a very cordial welcome. They had gone from there to visit the grave of Florence Nightingale.

SOCIAL AMENITIES

At Bedford College they attended a pageant staged by the students, among those present being a daughter of H. H. Kinsley who is in training at the Children's Hospital, Great Ormond Street. A banquet at Grosvenor Hotel, given by the Matrons' Association, and at which the Minister of Health, the president of the Royal College of Surgeons, the president of the Royal College of Physicians and many other distinguished guests were present; visits to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, which dates back to the eleventh century, and to St. Thomas' Hospital; attendance at special services at St. Paul's Cathedral and at Westminster Cathedral; a reception at Lancaster House, where the host was Sir Kingsley Wood; a reception by the Lord Mayor were among the other events arranged in connection with the sessions of the International Council.

The meetings of the International Council were attended by about 4,000 nurses, of whom 184 came from Canada. Thirty-three countries were represented in the federation. The new president is Miss Effie Taylor, a Canadian-born woman, now professor of nursing at Yale University.

Recalling the gracious reception given the members of the Grand Council at Buckingham Palace, Miss Fairley said that Queen Elizabeth had shown particular interest in nursing methods in the Canadian Prairie Provinces.

BUSINESS COMPLETED

As president of the Registered Nurses' Association for British Columbia, Miss Fairley presided at last night's meeting, "taking over" after Mrs. H. G. Bothwell, president of the Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association, had welcomed the visiting members on behalf of the local group.

Miss Cavers, of Vancouver, gave a report of the curriculum committee, and urged that all study groups should send in their reports and questions by January 1, 1938.

An interesting paper on "Eight-Hour Day in Hospitals" was given by Miss Helen Archer, Nanaimo. This and the previous paper provided material for some interesting discussion from the floor.

Following the formal business meeting and Miss Fairley's address, refreshments were served from a table.

Shetland Ponies Willing to Work

The Colonist cameraman recently encountered this team of Shetland ponies at work on the Island Highway, just north of Duncan. They are owned by Harry Rogers, Ford Road, Cowichan, and ordinarily are the playmates of Mr. Ford's three children. The ponies are six years old and were brought to the Island last summer by Mr. Ford, when he moved here from Quill Lake, Sask. They are not called on to do a great deal of work, and apparently enjoy a task when given one. George Blair is the driver.

B.C. ECONOMIC COUNCIL LESS

More Than 10,000 Persons in Receipt of Old-Age Pensions in This Province

British Columbia's Economic Council is still in existence with three members, the Government has replied to questions in the Legislature. Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman; Dr. H. C. Winch, former Liberal member for Skeena, and J. O. Nicholls, Nanaimo, comprise the council, which may be abolished with repeal of the Economic Council Act shortly.

In other responses it is stated 10,731 persons, male and female, were in receipt of old age pensions in British Columbia last year; 218 applications were rejected; and there are no regulations in force requiring children to assist with contributions, "other than as required by the Parents Maintenance Act."

NO INFORMATION

The British Columbia Government has no information, relative to asserted transfer of large tracts of timber and mineral lands to Japanese interests, as to whether or not the Japanese Government may have a financial interest in the purchase.

Press reports to that effect, however, have been noted.

Gasoline mileage in the Department of Lands for varying periods is also reported.

In notices of motion H. E. Winch, M.P.P., and E. E. Winch, M.P.P., give word of intention to submit four bills to the Legislature if Government assent can be secured. These are suggested amendments to the Hours of Work, Hospitals, Marriage and Coal Mines Regulation Act.

CHEST TOTAL IS $60,547

As indicative of the spirit of self-denial frequently met by the canvassers, Mr. Winslow mentioned the case of a woman who, though obviously much in need of money herself, was anxious to help the cause. She had no money in the house when the collector called, but explained that she would receive a day's work today, and would gladly give her wages for that work to the fund. It is unlikely, however, that she will be allowed to make such a sacrifice.

Headquarters received a voluntary request yesterday from Chinatown for a collector to visit that section. Two of the lady canvassers paid a visit to Chinatown and returned with subscriptions totaling more than $50, and many promises of support. The Tong Yen Store, Port Street, offered $25, expressed regret that the contribution was not larger, and asked the canvassers to return later for a further donation.

STAFF WORK APPRECIATED

The campaign office on View and Government Streets is a hive of activity, day and night, and the executive at its daily meeting yesterday made special appreciative reference to the splendid service rendered by the volunteer staff, under Frank Paulding, and to the work of the volunteer audit staff.

If every possibility is canvassed the fund will come very close to the objective, but there will be no margin to spare. R. H. B. Ker, joint campaign chairman, declared after the executive meeting.

The campaign will officially end on Monday, but some divisions will be unable to complete their collections until later in the week. On Monday evening, November 15, the campaign workers will meet at a "Dutch treat" dinner to mark the conclusion of the drive, and to enable them to exchange ideas and talk over plans for next year's Community Chest while the experience of the initial campaign are fresh in mind.

It was recognized that there might be some shortcomings in the method of approach, since this was the first campaign of such large proportions undertaken in the city, Mr. Winslow explained. There had been some criticism of the scale printed on the backs of some cards, suggesting a basis of contribution. This scale had been given simply as a guide to help those contributors who questioned the canvassers as to the amount they should subscribe, and many had expressed appreciation of the suggested scale, which was one used in community chest campaigns throughout North America.

REARMAMENT BEING FULFILLED RAPIDLY

Five large factories are producing military aircraft, but experiments are continuing and wholesale production will be delayed for another eight or nine months, when it is hoped to turn out a steady flow of pursuit planes and bombers.

OVERCOMING DIFFICULTY

The cardinal difficulty in military airplane production is that machines which are modern when they first roll out on the runway are obsolete in one or two years. Re-armament programme officials have sought to get around this difficulty by a special office of aeronautical studies.

Military engineers enlisted in the work of the defence programme are believed to have made important discoveries regarding land defence against air attack. On these discoveries, however, no details are available, lest the conviction Britain can make itself impregnable is "over fifty years of age," was sentenced yesterday to three months in jail after her conviction of defrauding the city relief department of $565.

Crown Attorney Norman Newton told the court the woman kept boarders at her home and received an income from them which she had failed to reveal to the city relief department.

EXPRESS FEARS FOR FREIGHTER

Ss. Calgadoo Unreported on Passage From Sydney to Bell Island

HARBOR GRACE, Nfld., Nov. 5 (C.P.)—Fears were expressed along Newfoundland's southeast coast today for the safety of the Great Lakes freighter Calgadoo, unreported to noon on a voyage from Sydney, N.S., to Bell Island.

The Calgadoo left Sydney October 30. In her summary, should be adequate in the sense that the hospital laboratory should be fully equipped to give all necessary examinations and tests, and those employed in the laboratory should have desired technical aptitude, as well as highest scientific qualifications.

NURSING PROBLEMS

In the general discussion of "Nursing Problems as Related to Hospital Administration," which occupied the closing part of the afternoon session, numerous practical suggestions were brought forward for the solution of some of the everyday matters that perplex hospitals. Miss Lena Mitchell, of Jubilee Hospital, led a discussion on method of admission of patients, giving a description of the procedure there. Miss Grace Fairley, of Vancouver General Hospital, thought it advisable that the person receiving the patient should have nothing to do with the financial aspect of the patient's relations with the institution.

Miss E. Clarke, superintendent of nurses at the Royal Columbian Hospital, read a letter from Sister Francis Deschamps concerning front office service, "where the casual visitor as well as the patient alike get their first impression of the hospital."

NON-COMMITTAL

Asked by Harold E. Winch (C.C.F., Vancouver East), if the Government would present a trade union bill at this session, Premier Pattullo replied that he had no observation to make at present on that point.

The House adjourned at 5:30 p.m., until 3 p.m. on Monday, with two days left in the main debate and the budget unofficially expected on Wednesday.

Three committees were active. The public accounts committee, under E. T. Kenney, M.P.P., and agreed to call for vouchers of ministerial traveling expenses, road tenders, relief supplies and on other points questioned by committee members.

The forestry committee named Captain Bid Leray, M.P.P., and R. H. Carson, M.P.P., as a sub-committee to interview Hon. A. W. Gray and Chief Forester E. C. Manning as to recommendations on forestry conservation.

Before the agricultural committee J. B. Munro said a special westbound grain rate applied on railway carloads of feed grain brought into British Columbia from Calgary and that farmers could get this rate, 30c a bushel, if they co-operated to order in carlots. The domestic rate is 41.50 cents and the export rate 20c per bushel.

DRIVERS' FEARS

Outside the Legislature, Attorney-General Warner announced that the Government proposed changes in the Motor Vehicles Act, to make drivers' tests compulsory in Victoria and Vancouver, at $1 per test, in amendments not yet before the House. The expected securities bill was not filed as the House adjourned for the week-end.

R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.P.P., adjourned the debate and will speak first on Monday.

"I've been thinking it over," said the husband, "and I've decided to agree with you."

"That won't do you any good," said his wife. "I've changed my mind."

Hereafter I shall always recommend H. & N. Pills to my friends."

Problems of Nursing Expertly Discussed At Convention Here

Specialized Branches of Hospital Administration Able Reviewed From Many Angles at Closing Session of B.C. Hospitals' Association

A "NURSING Session" concluded the annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association yesterday afternoon. From the threefold aspect of its relation to the patient, the doctor, and the nursing staff, "The Value of Laboratory Service in the Hospital" was comprehensively discussed by Sister Columbkille, assistant director of the laboratory at St. Paul's, Vancouver.

Elaborating the first point, laboratory service in relation to the patient, she pointed out what the patient expected on entering the hospital, viz., every scientific care procurable in respect of laboratory tests and examination. The monetary question was secondary to this, and the means of financing laboratory tests should be met in some way so that it would not too heavily tax the patient.

Considering the second aspect, the laboratory service in relation to the doctor, Sister Columbkille touched on the development of the microscope as part of the hospital laboratory equipment. Before the microscope the doctor had to rely more on his observations; today, in a modern hospital, he could get authentic findings through the laboratory. Laboratory examination, in other words, was a qualitative analysis of the doctor's clinical findings, because it gave him a chance to differentiate between similar diseases and arrive at a more accurate prognosis. It also helped the doctor in clinical meetings.

TESTS NURSE'S FITNESS

Laboratory service in relation to the staff fell in a different category, for not only did it give the pupil nurses a chance to see in good practical laboratory work, but it was an important agent in the nurse's own medical examination prior to her admission to the training school. The object of such tests were, of course, to assure the candidate that she was in good health before entering the class; it also helped to eliminate any infectious disease or anything in the nature of a disease "carrier" from the training school.

Laboratory service, said the speaker, in her summary, should be adequate in the sense that the hospital laboratory should be fully equipped to give all necessary examinations and tests, and those employed in the laboratory should have desired technical aptitude, as well as highest scientific qualifications.

LEAVING PATIENTS

Miss MacBride, Jubilee Hospital, indicated the value to the patient of assistance in contacting the type of organization that would be of help to him on leaving hospital, in this connection particularly referring to the ex-service man, the unmarried mother and the indigent. Miss McLaughlin, of the Friendly Help Welfare Association, suggested that the social worker at the hospital could give much help by having a card-index of social agencies, through which the patient could be put in touch with the special agency that would assist him on leaving hospital.

Sister Mary Gregory, St. Joseph's Hospital, led the discussion of "What Is Meant by Adequate Nursing Staff?" In determining this, there would have to be taken into consideration adequate nursing staff to carry out the doctor's orders and to give maximum care for the physical and mental comfort of the patient; adequate graduate nurses for the training school staff; a certain number of additional graduate nurses on general duty so as to make it possible for student nurses to have certain time off supervisors of good teaching ability. Sister Mary Gregory emphasized that many things should be taught at the bedside that could not be taught in the classroom, particularly in respect of the comfort of the patient. Miss Fairley recommended the publication sponsored by the American Hospital Association on essentials of good nursing service. Those responsible for nursing care of patients must impress on doctors and boards of directors what a great demand was made on nursing staffs by the patients, and what every new bit of modern hospital equipment represented to the nurse.

Speaking at the morning session, Dr. A. K. Haywood, general superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital, in his report of the American Hospital Association convention at Atlantic City, noted that the subject of nurses' hours had been one of the much-debated matters. The long hours now in vogue were unfair to the nurse, to the hospital, and to the patient. The eight-hour day would not be as costly as many people thought.

His report also touched on the labor troubles existing in some American hospitals, a contingency for which due preparation should be made.

Resigns Post as Governor's Aide

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (C.P.)—Lieutenant S. G. Rivers-Smith today relinquished his post as aide-de-camp to the Governor-General and left for England to rejoin the Royal Navy, which he left for service with Lord Tweedmouth.

Rivers-Smith chose to leave his post here one year before his term expired, feeling he would lose contact with developments in the navy if he remained longer.

San Francisco Ferry Craft Purchased by Puget Sound Firm

Put Out of Business by Bay Bridge, Boats Will Ply Out of Seattle, Replacing Vessels
Now in Service

According to Seattle advice received here, the Black Ball Ferry Line has acquired six Diesel-electric ferry craft from San Francisco Intercoastal. The boats Golden Age, Golden Bear, Golden Poppy, Golden State, Golden Shore and Golden West will arrive in Seattle shortly and are expected to be in operation on Puget Sound routes by the middle of December.

The fleet, which has lost its traffic since the opening of the bridge crossing San Francisco Bay, were purchased at an attractive price and will replace some of the smaller vessels now running between points on Puget Sound. They are sister ships, with the exception of the Golden West. They are 240 feet long and were built in Alameda for the Southern Pacific-Golden Gate Ferry Company.

Designed for rough water, it is quite possible that one or more of the new ferry craft will be placed in the Puget Sound-Vancouver Island service of the company next summer. A. C. Stickley, local agent of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, said yesterday. He thought that one might run in place of the Olympic, while it is quite possible that a Diesel-electric craft will operate between Anacortes and Sidney.

PARTHENIA LATE
Due here on November 8 from the United Kingdom, the Donaldson Line freighter Parthenia is running late, according to A. E. Shanks, of Rether Consolidated, local agents. The ship is now expected about November 11.

MAN INJURED
Fish-packer Loyal No. 2, Nootka Packing Company charter, experienced rough weather when negotiating Milnat Bar on Wednesday of this week. The boat managed to get outside it, but was shortly after hit by a big sea, which crashed aboard, breaking plate glass windows and injuring Norman Arnet, of Tofino, who was badly cut about the head by flying glass. The Loyal No. 2 continued to Bamfield, where she was met by Dr. G. Helen. Port Alberni, and Arnet was taken to Alberni by fast gasboat.

CABLESHIP RESTORED
Mrs. Fleming, wife of Captain C. M. C. Fleming, of the cableship Restorer, expects the ship back here about the third week of December. The Restorer is now at Singapore and from there will go to Midway Island on the way to Victoria.

FRENCH LIVER
The French Line will send at least one large passenger liner to the Pacific Coast next Spring. It was announced during the week by Empire Shipping Company agents for the line. Word to this effect was received by the British Columbia company from San Francisco, where Fishermen's Wharf, San Francisco, has always been one of the interesting sights on the waterfront of the Golden Gate port. Strangers to the city are directed to it, and during the day numerous craft of varied design and tonnage may be seen. San Francisco fishermen generally leave the dock in the evening, and return in the early morning with their catches.

President of Trans-Canada
Predicts Canada-United Kingdom Link Soon

MONTREAL, Nov. 5 (AP).—Inauguration of regular trans-Atlantic air service between Canada and the United Kingdom "will not be delayed long." It was predicted today by S. J. Hungerford, president of Canadian National Railways, on his return from a six-week European tour.

Mr. Hungerford, president of the Trans-Canada Air Lines, said he found "throughout Britain the most intense interest in Canada. Formation of the Trans-Canada Air Lines has attracted wide attention and I received assurances of the greatest confidence in the future of the Dominion."

ONLY MINOR FACTOR

Of the "scores of prominent persons" met by Mr. Hungerford "only two expressed any uneasiness at the prospect of a war." The British rearmament programme, said Mr. Hungerford, "is only a minor factor in the rapidly increasing business prosperity." Business, said Mr. Hungerford, was on a decided upward trend before the rearmament programme developed.

"I was told, on good authority, that one of the chief factors, if not the most important, in the great improvement in British business, was the extensive building of dwellings for the people. Enormous resi-

IMMIGRATION

In answer to a question regarding British emigration to Canada, Mr. Hungerford said he had made it clear, in expressing his personal view, that there was no likelihood of regulations being relaxed until Canadian business improved sufficiently to make immigration desirable. Then it would have to be highly selective. This attitude had been well understood, he felt. In the meantime, with business so much improved, there was not the same disposition to emigrate. It was true, however, that certain areas and industries were still depressed. The question was one for the future.

"Yes, my friends, my habits and my hours."

CONSTITUTIONAL SAFEGUARDS

It is almost unthinkable that in these days there should be people who believe that a Constitution under which a country operates can be torn to bits at pleasure. Such people appear to be entirely ignorant of the stages of history through which the present system of parliamentary government developed. That they should be so is a reflection on the system of education that prevails, and a reflection, as well, on their own curiosity in inquiring into the conditions under which they enjoy political, civil and religious liberty.

There are even jejune minds that think courts should be deprived of the power to deny the right of a Legislature to pass certain acts. That power is, however, an essential part of the Constitution and was devised so that justice should prevail and so that the liberty of the subject should not be susceptible to infringement. As Junius pointed out, "the laws which protect us in our civil rights grow out of the Constitution and they must fall and flourish with it." He pointed out, moreover, that the power of the Crown and of the elected representatives of the people is not an arbitrary power, for they are the trustees and not the owners of the estate. The fee-simple is in the people themselves. It is true that the Legislature is the highest power known to the Constitution, but that means that it is the highest, "in comparison with the other subordinate powers established by the laws." Junius said that "in this sense the law supreme is relative, not absolute. The power of the Legislature is limited, not only by the general rules of natural justice and the welfare of the community, but by the forms and principles of our particular Constitution." If that were not true, it would mean that elected representatives of the people "would have no rule to direct their resolutions, but merely their own will and pleasure."

It was to prevent the exercise of arbitrary power that courts—or, in other words, a system of justice—were instituted. They are an essential part of the Constitution of any free people. Where rights respecting legislation are called into question, the Courts have clearly defined instructions and responsibilities based on constitutional practice and usage. If there were no such practice and no such usage, this country, as well as other parts of the British realm, would live under an autocracy. It was in order that this would not happen in British countries that freedom was broadened down from precedent to precedent, and that during the process the power of the courts was established to secure liberty and to administer justice. "There cannot," said Junius, "be a doctrine more fatal to the liberty and property we are contending for, than that which confounds the idea of a supreme and an arbitrary Legislature." There is no power vested in the representative in British lands to destroy his constituent. Yet that power would exist if there were no safeguard in the courts. If there were such arbitrary power vested in a legislature as some people contend there should be, then such a legislature could make the seats of its members secure for life and those members could do anything and everything that their fancy dictated.

QUEEN MARY'S SISTER SHIP

The Queen Mary's sister ship, now under construction, will be in commission in 1940, the centenary of the Cunard (now the Cunard White Star) Line. The new vessel will be approximately the same size as the Queen Mary, and the speed about the same. Sir Percy Bates, the chairman of the Line, says that the Queen Mary and her sister ship are not intended to break Atlantic records. He points out, however, that on a recent voyage the former vessel left Southampton eleven hours late after being delayed by fog, and that it was possible because of reserve of speed, and that is why there is a margin of power in ships of this class. He says the company is not "bothering about the record. The speed of the Queen Mary and the Normandie is very close, "not more than the margin of luck," and if there is that margin he believes the Queen Mary has the record. The probability is, however, that the speed of the sister ship now being built will exceed that of the Queen Mary, though little or nothing is being said of that at this time.

THE LIBERAL OUTLOOK

Some time ago Mr. Mackenzie King made a rash and profitless excursion into the field of prophecy. With the results of the last Federal general election in his mind's eye, Mr. King naturally felt a rich glow of satisfaction as he looked forward to a long period of political prosperity for the Liberal Party. Exercising what he took to be the gift of prophetic vision, he declared that third and fourth parties in Canada were doomed to speedy dissolution. His prediction was that the individuals composing these parties would be absorbed into the grand old Liberal Party. Mr. King's prediction, however, was not altogether that of the old-fashioned seer who developed his prophetic visions out of the depths of his own unassisted inner consciousness. Not at all. He explained frankly that his vision of the future owed something to his study of the lessons of the past.

In Mr. King's opinion, third parties are apt to flourish chiefly during periods of Conservative misgovernment. Conveniently he forgot to mention the incident of the formation of the Liberal-Unionist Party in the Old Country. He overlooked also the situation in Canada in the '40s and '50s of last century when the Liberals were in office and there were no less than seven distinct parties in existence. A prophet, however, though he may injure his reputation by reasoning badly about what has happened, may possibly achieve success by guessing right about what is to happen. Mr. King has been in office for two years. What has happened to his prophecy and to his theory that third parties are due to Tory misrule? Has the event shown that the Liberal Party can attract to itself all the progressive (and discontented) elements in the political field? Is there a great, powerful and united Liberal Party supreme in the Dominion and supreme in the several Provinces, as prognosticated?

In Ontario it would seem that the Liberals of Mr. Hepburn's party have succeeded from the Federal Liberal Party. They have formed a party of their own, a large and formidable body whose leader, though still calling himself a Liberal, is emphatic in insisting that he is not a Mackenzie King Liberal. He is outspoken in his admiration of Premier Duplessis of Quebec, who recently defeated the Liberals of that Province. The bright sun of Liberalism was expected to dissolve and disperse all the third and fourth parties in Canada. It has not yet dispelled the thick political mists that have latterly overspread the prairies of "Sunny" Alberta. If Mr. Mackenzie King cannot win over to his party the befogged and erring Albertans, what bond of reconciliation can he offer to the Socialists to induce them to renounce their Socialism and embrace the uncompromising individualism of the Liberal Party?

AIR SICKNESS

Attitude as well as altitude was held to be a factor of air sickness at a recent meeting in New York of the physicians and scientists of the Aero Medical Association. Anoxemia, the term used at the meeting, was shown to be partly due to lack of oxygen and partly because of the person's mental attitude towards flying and altitude. An illustration of the latter was found in mountain sickness on railroads. The majority of the earlier passengers up Fike's Peak railway became ill because that was the general expectation, whereas, in other cases, people have been transported over a mountain divide when they were not aware of their altitude and showed no ill effects.

Anoxemia may be nothing more than discomforting in mild cases, but when it is due to lack of oxygen or to the presence of as little as three per cent of carbon dioxide, it is found, in the case of persons frequently attacked, to lead to intellectual impairment. It will deteriorate memory and judgment. The practical conclusion of the discussion was that pilots should not be subjected regularly to high altitudes without oxygen. It was stated that the major lines which desire to fly 12,000 feet or higher are taking steps to supply an adequate amount of oxygen as required.

IMPROVED TRAINS

Australian railways have joined those of many other countries that have embarked upon programmes of modernization for greater efficiency and for increased speed to meet the competition of other forms of transportation. The state-owned railroads in Victoria have recently completed a streamlined, all-steel, air-conditioned train that will run between Melbourne and Sydney at an average speed of more than seventy miles an hour. This will make the train one of the fastest in the world. The giant locomotive will haul eleven coaches with a capacity of 500 passengers on the regular 200-mile non-stop run to Albany, the first stop between Melbourne and Sydney. Some of the towns along the line will catch but a fleeting glance of the new marvel of transportation as it will pass through at ninety miles an hour to hold the seventy-mile average for the run.

It seems that fewer cigars are smoked in the country, or else that the home-manufactured brand is finding more favor. In 1933 Canada imported 13,000,000 cigars and last year only 300,000. A good cigar is not so much of a smoke now as it was in Kipling's imagination.

"Face Paralyzed by Using Lipstick," reads a headline. This alludes in solemn earnest to the nerve centres, not to the expression which is paralyzed and disguised in so many by the use of cosmetics.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

It is perhaps as well to examine the forms and purposes of Parliament, while, however atrophied, they still remain to us. There is no doubt in my mind that a long way back in the first conception of a people's tribunal, however crude the forms, the whole was geared to action. It was there the tribe made up its mind to do things, and the chiefs were instructed what the tribe desired and pointed out, in turn, no doubt, what phases of that programme were practicable, safe and wise.

Today it is the King-in-Parliament, but the peoples' will is still supreme, in theory. They attend first to their own business, grant supply to His Majesty, and are thanked for funds voted out of public funds to the various departments of the state. Legislation is advanced, bills are discussed in committee, and receive royal assent in due course. All of the forms are unchanged, but some at least of the original purposes seem to have disappeared.

In what follows, I am talking about a Legislature, any Legislature, and not the Nineteenth Legislature now sitting, nor of any particular administration. I believe that the speech from the throne intended to show fully what the Government-of-the-day intended to do at a session.

I believe that the forms for introduction of a bill were designed with purpose—first that notice be given that some explanation would be made in Parliament of the intended law; then the bill would appear, to speak for itself; going through several readings widely spaced and being discussed clause by clause by any and all members interested. In theory that holds, in practice it has all but disappeared. A Government bill cannot be altered to the extent of one cabinet without consent from cabinet benches.

It is fair to say that (as in a game of football, only one team can carry the ball and the other can only kick it, or to some directed goal) an administration has the right and duty to lead, to propose legislation, and to carry it through. What has happened today, however, is that administrations interpret these rights as their own, saying all their legislation, good or bad, must be carried unchanged. It is true the caucus sees the bills first, but the caucus represents only elected supporters of an administration (at present 37.5 per cent of the electors in fact).

When one remembers that the supply bill, on which this province, for example, may vote some $27,000,000 this coming year, is a Government measure and cannot be altered without defeating the administration, it becomes apparent that there is no real discussion of the annual bill of expense the taxpayers will be called on to share. His Majesty's Loyal Opposition (and I use the term sincerely) may make as much objection as it likes, but still votes for outlay will go through unvaried by as much as a five cent piece. Yet to prepare for that bill there is a five-day debate on the budget and a ten-day general debate in opening the House. The forms remain, but something surely has happened to the purposes.

Allowing no room for leadership by an administration (and no business could be run without a head and at least some direction) are not issues in Parliament important enough to obtain the practical advice and help of all elected members of the people, of all organized bodies, and of the few scattered independent members. The practical point is, that before an administration can change its own bills at outside request it must place itself in the limelight of public discussion of new law has disappeared.

There is a further and much graver trend in modern parliaments, and that is the swing toward making part of a law in blank and allowing administrations delegated authority to supply the rest of the law by regulation, often on the grounds of a four or five-man board already under governmental direction. Thus laws are made "in the Gazette." Parliament should make the laws, all of them, and not just issue labels to be filled in by someone else long after members have returned to their homes.

There are many current examples of this legislation-outside-parliament. Without stopping to look up the records, I can think of the Male and Female Minimum Wage Acts, the Hours of Work Act, the B.C. Natural Products Marketing Act, the Highway Act, to some extent the Motor Vehicles Act, and many others. At this session—but no, I said I would not discuss this session. There could be added proclamation bills, which become law, but do not operate until an administration says so, and of which the B.C. Health Insurance Act was one example, and some other forms of removing final, effective decisions from Parliament—where such decisions should rest inviolate.

If the primary purposes of Parliament are to decide what sums shall be levied on taxpayers and to make laws by which all citizens are to be ruled—and I believe that to be true—then the delegation of a fraction of this authority is a clear breach of public trust. Government should not propose it, and parties should not listen to it, if proposed. Fishery licences are a form of taxation, and yet fishery licences in one province in Canada were changed without any reference whatever to its Legislature. I am not much interested in the forms of parliament, but its purposes should be retained unchanged, in my humble opinion.

Cartophily

If you lived in England when you were a little boy, you possibly so far forgot your upbringing as to ask gentlemen for cigarette cards. Of course, nice children simply did not do such things. But you were, you may remember, not nice, but just a natural little boy. Now these cards we begged, bartered and lost, are selling in London for fancy prices, such as twenty guineas a set, or ten or fifteen pounds. There is a monthly paper, devoted to collecting, and the enthusiast who knows his regimental uniforms, pugilists, flowers, mule hair or film stars is described—God save the mark—as a cartophilist. . . . Looking back on the early years of this century, when the unia merged into the lens, I recollect I was not addicted to cartophily. But with a natural adolescent urge for destruction, I took great joy in ruining the serried ranks of lead soldiers with a brass cannon. . . . cigarette card collecting had nothing on that game.—B.G.

Glancing Over Sport

The National Hockey League and Montreal fans paid tribute to one of the greatest stars of the game this week in Quebec when they paid off to the tune of $25,000 to the family of the late Howie Morens as a result of a benefit game. If the league played a memorial game in each city in the circuit this season they wouldn't half pay back what "Howie" did for Canada's fastest sport. He did for hockey what "Babe" Ruth did for baseball, make the turnstiles click, season after season. . . . Howie Morens turned heads as he came down to professional tennis promoters the other day, after they had come out in the open and stated the "former queen of the courts" had signed on the dotted line. Helen is wise, she's not plunging into the salaries paid by her eyes closed. . . . Here's today's sport winners: Wanderers will whip the Navy in senior Rugby; Garrison over Navy in senior "B" engagement, and College and Wanderers to win the intermediate matches. In first division football, Victoria over the Thistles and the City over Esquimalt. Dominoes will edge out Alpines at night in the main basketball argument. In American football, California Bears will hum the Huskies and Notre Dame will send Pittsburgh to bed.

Famous last words: "When are you going to cut my hand?"—J.D.

Basketball Gossip

Kingsham-Gillespie hoopers snared a fine victory Wednesday evening when they defeated the highly praised Canadian Scottish, 17-14. It was a great battle all of the way and was certainly enjoyed by the few faithful fans. . . . Coley Chambers, recently appointed coach of the Liberty Cafe hoopers, brought his boys through in his initial assignment against West Road. The boys literally "burned up" the maple court in one of the roughest encounters of the season. It certainly was no old maid's party, and it provided many exciting and thrilling moments for the fans. . . . Judging by the early season, the Intermediate "A" boys' division and the senior boys' section are going to provide some real contests this season, and you, Mr. and Mrs. John Phan, who really enjoy a thrill once in a while, could do much worse than give the boys your support.—B.T.

Taken to Task

A learned correspondent severely takes us to task for advocating coffee and cake as a fitting climax to Conservative and Liberal ward meetings. He claims such irregularities in eating and drinking make Health Week and health insurance necessary. Coffee and cake at night also create disturbed sleep and lowered vitality the next day, he asserts. Perhaps so. Along with thousands of others we find a night snack necessary to assist sleep. We don't contend that refreshments draw many more persons to a meeting and create a delightful sociability at the conclusion. A warm cup of tea or coffee helps to ward off the chill of night on the way home. If we paused to ponder over the consequences of everything we did at a life, would not be worth living. . . . A Fort Street grocer is poorer in pocket than he was a few days ago, but at least he knows how not to operate a box and arrow. Noticing the grocer indulging in a lunch hour stroll, a sporting goods shop proprietor asked him if he would mind the store for a few minutes while he ran out on business. Once inside the shop, the grocer picked up a $15 bow from an archery set and bent it back with a mighty heave on the wrong side. The sporting goods man let him off lightly. He charged the grocer with a new bow wholesale.—G.B.

Imported Programmes

It seems the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has failed in its prime object of providing all-Canadian programmes with all-Canadian talent. Of course, we won't even mention that little matter of commercial advertising being permitted on C.B.C. stations; that is "a horse of another color" as they say, and has "just happened." What we are getting at is the fact that a good many of the programmes being released through the facilities of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Naturally the Canadian network exchanges many programmes, but we think they get back more than they give.—W.F.P.

STREET CARS OR BUSES

Sir—In The Colonist, a few days ago, an announcement was made that a city committee had been appointed to negotiate with the B.C. Electric Railway regarding the latter's franchise, which expires shortly; and the railway company will likely be asking for a renewal of the present system, or perhaps a bus proposition.

It has been suggested that the question of which it shall be will be left to a vote of the ratepayers at the coming election. Personally, I consider we had better be very careful about such a move or we may be due for another unforeseen burden.

I think that the railway company should give the citizens some assurance that if it prefers to carry on as at present, it should give the public the very latest design of cars to replace those more than obsolete ones now in use. Then, if the polled vote decided on buses we would have to be more careful, for the rails and ties would have to be removed and all broken surfaces relaid, which would cost quite a sum, and the city would have to stand the cost, perhaps.

Then again, would the buses be compelled to use the portion of the street next the sidewalks, as at present. If so, motor travel would have to use the part now used by street cars.

There should not be a single vote cast for either proposition until a thoroughly workable system has been placed before the public for their consideration. As there would be more motors required than to take care of the traffic.

I have it from good authority that street car operators are paid nearly twice as much for services as are bus operators.

AERIAL DEFENCE

Sir—In reading the recent interesting letters on aerial defence, the main question appears to be whether Vancouver is the logical base for the protection of the Canadian Pacific Coast.

The object of defence today, both aerial and naval, is to intercept the enemies before they can reach their objectives. In other words the enemy cannot get to the gates of a walled city or castle, but that form of attack, more or less, died with the passing of the bold bad barons, though anyone taking the trouble to study the coastal defences of British Columbia might not think so. First of all, the intercepting air force base should be situated in a location to defend the main centres of population; therefore, the closest they are to the enemy the better.

Mr. Baldwin, as Premier of Great Britain, repeated on several occasions: "The Rhine is our battle-front." That being the case, arrangements made with the French Government to allow the R.A.F. to use certain French aerodromes in order to intercept enemy machines that might be en route to Great Britain. At the same time, the British machines would have the dual purpose of protecting French shipping areas. It is obvious this arrangement would save the British flyers a great deal of mileage that would have to be flown from a home base in Great Britain and give them a longer period to try and divert the enemy from their objective.

In a supposed attack on the southern portion of British Columbia (attacks today are without declaration of war) the aircraft from a Vancouver base would have to fly a great deal of unnecessary mileage to try and protect the West Coast of Vancouver Island, Nanaimo, Victoria, and last, but not least, the naval base of Esquimalt, the home of the great Dominion Government drydock, which, in the case of war, might or might not be accommodating and repairing crippled war vessels. Therefore it seems logical to suppose the base for the intercepting air force should be situated on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

With this disposition, there should be the immediate construction of a wide paved West Coast highway, whereby fast mobile anti-aircraft guns and searchlight equipment could be moved and lend invaluable assistance towards the protection of the populous centres. At the same time this West Coast road, as a great attraction to the motoring public of British Columbia and also foreign tourists, providing an all-Canadian route to the mighty open Pacific Ocean with all its majesty and beauty.

To quote J. L. Carrin, the noted news commentator: "Everybody knows the wastage of machines in action will take place at a rate of loss unparalleled in the case of any former weapon of war."

A widely accepted judgment of European experts is that to maintain any air force at a given strength, six times the number of machines launched into action mental of Anglo-Saxon democracy that the people as a whole shall make a Constitution under and by which governments shall govern. British Columbia was not born as a Federal unit by a conference of the whole people of British Columbia. It was a clique that conferred. It was a clique that determined; the people of British Columbia as a whole had no part, in 1867, in the B.N.A. Act.

No government, no party, no clique can be allowed to frame a Constitution by which it shall govern—that's pure Fascism, or worse.

I suggest that—first, the people of Canada be asked by means of a plebiscite if they want the B.N.A. Act altered or replaced. In the event of the people of Canada deciding for a new Constitution, each Province should elect delegates from each Provincial or Federal riding for an inter-provincial convention to frame a new Constitution. Such new Constitution should be printed and a copy thereof sent to each elector in the Dominion of Canada. This done, we proceed to elect our Provincial and Federal parliamentary representatives.

Your leading article under notice deplores the spending of money towards the framing of a new Constitution. Surely one million or twenty million dollars will be well spent if it secures honest government for the people of Canada. Under the B.N.A. Act the people of British Columbia kept in their own hands the essential of government. In 1867, it is up to the people of British Columbia to see, in 1937-8, that their executive powers, as laid down in Section 92 of the B.N.A. Act, be not sold for a mess of Eastern pottage.

THE REASON

"Farm produce," complained the customer, "cost a good deal more than they used to."

"Sure they do," agreed Farmer Giles. "When a farmer has to know the botanical name of what he is raising, and the zoological name of the insect that eats it, and the chemical name of what will kill it, somebody's got to pay."

West Coast Route Was Promised Say Members in Debate

Municipal Aid, Town Planning, Abolition of Absentee Voting and Other Issues Aired in Legislature in Four Maiden Speeches Yesterday

CONSTRUCTION of the West Coast Road pledged by the Pattullo ministry, general aid for British Columbia municipalities, establishment of a provincial town-planning board with municipal ramifications, special aid for Esquimalt municipality, and abolition of the absentee voting system in British Columbia were recommended in the Legislature yesterday, as the House slogged through its final day of this week, before rising until Monday.

Messrs. Uphill, Straith, Finland, and Shepherd were heard, in that order; R. L. Maitland, K.C., adjourning argument.

THOMAS UPHILL, M.P.P.

In a whimsical address in which he touched on ministerial flights and tea parties, and the growing prevalence of "doctors" outside the ranks of surgery and medicine, Thomas Uphill (Labor, Fernie) called for the abolition of the absentee voting system in British Columbia. He declared the Liberal Party had contested his own election in Fernie with promises of expenditures of $80,000 in that riding, and complained of absentee ballots which did him but little favor.

WORD RULED OUT

Warning to his theme, Mr. Uphill referred to "bribery," but was told by Mr. Speaker that "bribery" was an offensive word and could not be used in debate. Mr. Uphill said he would search for a substitute. Referring to the condition of the mines in Fernie, he asked enactment of departmental rulings on mother allowances and old age pensions, and urged abolition of absentee polling.

W. T. STRAITH, M.P.P.

Alderman W. T. Straith (Liberal, Victoria), in a maiden speech, contended the new toll bridge over the Fraser River at New Westminster should be considered as a gateway to Victoria and Vancouver Island, endorsing its construction. He said Victoria had received special aid from the Province in higher educational grants, and that the request for a capital city grant here was unjustly at present. The municipalities had a case for additional aid, but must wait settlement of unusual burdens such as relief before expecting permanent solutions.

NEW ELECTION FORECAST

RELEAST, Nov. 5 (P)—Political observers today forecast the Northern Ireland Parliament will be dissolved and elections held next April or May. Viscount Craigavon's Conservative Government has held office since Ulster was separated from the Irish Free State in 1921.

Canada's interest. The Orient was adopting Western methods, and should prove an increasing market one day.

Vancouver Island had benefited from provincial activity to encourage tourists, both by grants to publicity and otherwise. Some $4,000,000 additional had been spent on the island this year in consequence, as visiting cars increased and more people had come by boat to the island. Scenery was perpetuating and a non-waiting asset.

WEST COAST ROAD

Mr. Straith said a highway commission was not necessary, and that pressure for the West Coast road had been defined now to a call for a road linking Victoria with Port Renfrew. This link was needed, and should be proceeded with as soon as the correct route had been determined. A commencement had been made on the route, and further surveys were now in hand.

Cathedral Grove should be preserved for public enjoyment, and attention given to need for conservation of Island timber assets. Mr. Straith said in conclusion.

E. V. FINLAND, M.P.P.

Elmer V. Finland (Conservative, Esquimalt), in his maiden speech, said that Vancouver Island had waited forty years for construction of a West Coast Road and meant to have it. Since his election in Esquimalt road work seemed to have come to a sudden halt, he declared that there was a greater need than ever for reasonable prosecution of road and other projects to absorb men now on relief.

In the election campaign of June last, the people had been asked to vote for a "Santa Claus," but the result was materialized, and little in constructive policy had been since forthcoming. Instead, quantities of road machinery had been brought into the riding, displacing farmers who would have been glad of any work to eke out a meagre income from the land.

NO FARM RELIEF

Market control schemes had been developed, but had resulted unfavorably in Esquimalt. Primary producers stood in urgent need of assistance and had not received it, for all the boasts made for marketing boards. Producers demanded relief, even if only the relief from oppressive marketing regulations, Mr. Finland continued.

British Columbia municipalities were still expecting their promised aid and Esquimalt municipality stood desperately in need of assistance, with $9,150,190 worth of Federal holdings on which services to a taxation value of $176,129 could be demanded, without equivalent return to the municipality. Esquimalt was a special case for attention, with only $2,769,949 left in taxable values from which the municipality could derive its revenue. This case should be laid by the Province before the Royal Commission, Mr. Finland concluded.

J. A. PATON, M.P.P.

J. A. Paton (Conservative, Point Grey) urged creation of a provincial town-planning board of from five to nine members, serving on a voluntary basis. Such a bureau, he said, could oversee municipal town planning, which should be made compulsory. The device would save costs and reduce taxation eventually, as he suggested had been revealed by use of the plan in Point Grey.

Municipalities stood in genuine need of assistance and should be given a substantial portion of the cost of the tax and of the assessment tax, as already suggested in the debate. Educational grants in Vancouver and elsewhere showed great divergence, ranging from a little more than $10 per capita in Vancouver to $20 per capita in Interior towns. Effective steps should be taken on forest conservation, before that was too late.

In conclusion, Mr. Paton, secretary of the British Columbia Canteen Fund for six years past, said depletion of that fund acted as a hardship on returned men and their families. He urged government action to restore effective operation of the fund.

L. A. SHEPHERD, M.P.P.

L. A. Shepherd (C.C.F., Delta) in a quiet maiden address, repeated the necessity for municipal aid in Fraser Valley areas, where, he said, there was acute distress and people nearing the point of relief themselves were taxed to provide funds for those now destitute. Municipalities were close to the people and the Government would do well to take their advice more seriously.

The municipalities at their last convention had urged restoration of provincial grants, some removal of social service charges, creation of a utilities board and other remedies at this session. Surrey in particular required assistance now, Mr. Shepherd concluded.

Huge Throng Takes Part in Gaiety of Annual Police Ball

Hon. E. W. Hamber and Mrs. Hamber Present at Season's Most Popular Dance—Novel Decorations Admired by Guests

THE annual police ball has for the past twenty-three years conjured up in the minds of dancing Victoria, thoughts of gaiety and a long night's merrymaking. Last evening, the occasion of the twenty-fourth of such annual affairs proved no exception to the rule, and the police were again up to their traditional high standard as exceptionally fine hosts.

More than twelve hundred dancers attended the ball, which started with the grand march as the orchestra struck up the National Anthem, and His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, leading with Mrs. Andrew McGavin, followed by His Worship Mayor McGavin and Mrs. Hamber, Chief Thomas Heatley and Mrs. Heatley, while police commissioners, city aldermen and their wives, and other civic officials joined in the long procession into the ballroom. Accompanying His Honor and Mrs. Hamber were Mr. Hes Paterson, A.D.C., and Mrs. Mac Rice.

NOVEL DECORATIONS
The decorations were unusually attractive and were in charge of Constable George Clayards. At either side of the orchestra platform, where fourteen musicians played the latest dance music, stood two enormous poster cartons representing the traditional "big burly policeman." Behind the orchestra a stop-and-go signal blinked its red and green lights and the walls of the ballroom were draped with flags which had been kindly loaned for the occasion by the Royal Canadian Navy.

Supper was served in the ballroom and the Tudor grill, ample accommodation being provided for the huge throng at flower-bedecked tables.

Dancing continued until 3 a.m. the guests pronouncing the ball as the best in police ball history.

THE COMMITTEE
The committee in charge of arrangements included, Chief Thomas Heatley, honorary chairman; Detective Henry F. Jarvis, chairman and secretary; Constable Stanley Holmes, treasurer; Constable George Clayards, decorations; Sergeant J. Florence, refreshments; Sergeant J. Florence, master of ceremonies and was assisted by Constable Roy Woolsey.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES
SHAWNIGAN LAKE
The regular meeting of the Shawnigan Lake Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at Rosedale Inn, Mrs. A. Layton, president. The meeting endorsed the suggestion that a letter be sent to the provincial council of the Institute of Women's Institutes, asking for the immediate installation of "slow" signs at the various approaches to the village. A suggestion for an institute bazaar was approved but tabled until the Spring. The usual purchase of poppies has been made and Mr. H. Collins' kind offer to make a wreath for the institute was gratefully accepted. It was decided to make the usual donation of mementoes to the Duncan-hospital bazaar. Mrs. R. P. Weber consented to make the mementoes again. The rest of the meeting was given over to the presenting of interesting and comprehensive reports of the recent conference in Victoria by the delegates Mrs. W. Mattland and Mrs. C. G. Jones. Tea was served by Mrs. F. M. Gannon and Mrs. F. M. Winters.

BUILDING SCHEMES
She referred to the wish for "security in our homes," pointing out the inability to meet increasing taxation, which was exorbitant. The programmes being carried on with regard to alum clearance in the great cities in Europe were spoken of by Mrs. Smith, who added that while British Columbia had not altogether similar conditions in housing to face, these conditions did exist in modified form, and there were dwellings which were a fit for human habitation. She suggested that lands which had reverted to the city might well be utilized for new dwellings which would come into the low-rental category. Such a step would have a "double-barrelled effect," she continued, as work in the building trade would be created.

IN EDUCATION
"Today British Columbia stands head and shoulders above the rest of Canada in the matter of education," Mrs. Smith maintained with emphasis. The Provincial Department of Education had realized the necessity for change in the educational programme and had adjusted the curriculum in order to give the pupils individual treatment and to avoid "turning them all out according to a pattern." Educational guidance was a new phase of the subject which should be considered, the speaker said, adding "it will be a happy day when we see every person employed in the occupation they like best."

She referred to the excellent work being done by students at the University of British Columbia, which was training only 10 per cent of the young people who receive their early education in the Province. Opportunity should be given, she maintained, to the 90 per cent remaining to enable them to learn some trade whereby they could earn their own living. She urged her listeners to make an effort to see that the establishment of trade schools was brought about.

Progress Is Reported in Girls' Work

A milestone of much interest in "Y" circles was reached on Thursday night as the retiring council met at supper with the new council for its annual meeting. Miss Edna Teagle being in the chair.

Special guests for the evening included Mrs. B. S. Heisterman, the president of the board of directors; Mrs. Richard Felton, convener of the girls' work committee, and Miss Rhoda Craig, sponsor of the C.O.I.T. Girls' Council.

PLANS FOR TEA
The inter-club Halloween party was reported as having been successful. The programme convener, Miss Frances Wood, gave a report of the plans for the mother-and-daughter tea, to be held in recognition of the week of world fellowship during November. It was announced by Miss Patsy Fall, secretary of the council, that a week-end retreat for the council cabinet was being arranged to be held in the near future. This was followed by the annual report, in which the secretary reviewed the inter-club events sponsored by the council during the past year. This report showed encouraging progress in the girls' work department and indicated that the council had accomplished its aim by uniting the club groups in at least one inter-club function during each month throughout the year.

The election of the new executive was held, with the following result: Miss Elsie Peters, president; Miss Joan Drummond, vice-president; Miss Kitty Cameron, secretary; Miss Grace Hall, treasurer; Miss Alison Smith, editor-in-chief of Y-Ways; Miss Mary Burns, programme convener; Miss Bea Dykes, social convener.

At the close of elections Miss Kirkwood, the general secretary, was presented to the council as the installation officer. In her inaugural address, the responsibility as well as the privilege of becoming a member of the council executive was pointed out by Miss Kirkwood.

A tribute was paid to the retiring executive for their contribution made during the year in the girls' department.

In retiring from the chair, Miss Edna Teagle expressed her appreciation for the support and unfailing co-operation which she had received from the council during her term of office, and wished the new council, under the leadership of Miss Elsie Peters, every success for the coming year.

CHAPTER XIX
Miss Harwood walked up the two flights of stairs to her nephew's flat, in spite of the porter's invitation to take the lift. "It's all nonsense," she declared when she arrived, somewhat flushed and breathless. "Legs were made before lifts." She looked around the sitting-room with sharp eyes. "I must say it looks slightly more like home," she admitted grudgingly. "I detest bachelor flats," she told Syrie. "In my younger days unmarried men lived at home with their parents."

"Supposing they haven't any parents?" Syrie asked, and then, as no answer was forthcoming, she added, "Let me take your hat and cloak—you must be tired out with all those stairs."

"Tired!" Miss Harwood rose to her feet. "It takes more than that to tire me, and I much prefer to be independent."

She followed Syrie to the bedroom, her shrewd eyes taking in every detail at a glance. "A single bed" she said.

Syrie flushed. "We've got another room—quite close. You see, this is rather a small flat, and we haven't had time yet to find another one we like."

"I should think six months was time enough to find a dozen flats," the old lady said dryly, and then, "And where's Robert?" He might at least have had the decency to stay in to welcome me."

"He went out to get some wine for dinner," Syrie defended him. "He said there was a particular kind you like."

"I don't drink wine at all nowadays," Miss Harwood declared. "It's not necessary, and since my illness I have had to study my digestion."

"Were you very ill?"

"The doctors seemed to imagine I was at death's door, but as usual, they were quite wrong. They told me my heart was worn out and that I must spare myself all exertion—but there can't be very much wrong seeing that I walked up those two flights of stairs."

"I think you should be careful," Syrie said.

"You do, do you?" Miss Harwood said calmly. "I should hardly have flattered myself that my health was of any interest to you."

The girl flushed. "Robert is very fond of you."

The old lady's face softened, though she answered flatly, "Love generally goes where the money is."

"That's an unfair thing to say," Syrie protested. "Robert doesn't want your money, if you mean that—he doesn't want a shilling of it."

"Then it's the first time in his life that he hasn't wanted money," Miss Harwood retorted.

Syrie bit her lip. "I think that is

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber were "at home" at Government House yesterday afternoon to the delegates attending the annual convention of the B.C. Hospitals' Association which has been in progress at the Empress Hotel. The guests were received in the drawing-room, where His Honor was attended by the following aides, Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, Major Vincent McKenna, Capt. W. H. Molson and Mr. Hew Paterson. Mrs. Hamber wore a charming gown of fuchsia lame, made on tailored lines. The flowers in the reception rooms were particularly lovely, quantities of chrysanthemums in shades of gold, bronze and rose being arranged in the drawing-room and sunroom and on the long buffet table in the ballroom. The refreshment table in the dining-room was centred with a bowl of deep pink antirrhinum with matching tapers in silver candelabra at either side.

Delightful Party

A delightful house-warming party was held recently by Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lee at their home on Signal Hill. The living room was attractively decorated in Halloween colors of black and orange. Crepe paper streamers from the corners of the ceiling were caught in the centre with balloons. CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

(Mr. Culbertson is conducting through this column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer.)

Questions 7 and 8 in the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared yesterday. They were:

Question 7—Both sides vulnerable. You are South. North, your partner, dealt and bid two no trump. East passed. Your holding is:

♠ Q 4 2 ♥ A J 6 ♦ K 7 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3

What call do you make? Answer—You should give a double raise. Bid four no trump. You would raise to three if you held only one king. The other, honors you hold amply justify a slam-try.

Question 8—Both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer. Your hand is:

♠ A Q 10 5 ♥ A J 4 3 2 ♦ 10 6 4

Answer—You should open the bidding with one spade. If you open with one heart (the only alternative) you will be embarrassed for a rebid if partner responds with either one no trump or two diamonds. By first bidding one spade, you reserve the comfortable rebid of two hearts. (One point demerit for bidding one heart; two points demerit for any other call.)

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 9—Your opponents are vulnerable; you are not. You deal and pick up this hand:

Joseph Hope Gives Interesting Address on Far East at Kinsmen Meeting

The Kinsmen Club held its semi-monthly dinner meeting in Spencer's dining-room, on Thursday evening, with P. Mulcahy in the chair.

The speaker of the evening was Joseph Hope, who gave an interesting address on the Asiatic situation, and received a fine ovation. He was thanked by Walter Miles.

As a result of the club's golf tournament, held recently, Morris Kersey and Harry Edwood reached the final round, and will play for the honors on Sunday, at Macaulay golf links.

Presentation of the Dr. Poynta trophy by the donor was made to Dr. B. Nickells and Archie Smith, who won the honors for the Victoria club, by giving the best skin, at a club convention held at Nelson a short time ago.

A report was given on the fishing competition held at Cowichan Bay two weeks ago, which was enjoyed by the members.

The bidding:

South West North East
2 NT Pass 3 NT Pass
Pass Pass

West opened the eight hearts, and the defenders collected four heart tricks before the declarer could draw his breath. On the third round East signalled with the ten of spades, completing the echo on the fourth trick. Declarer also let go a spade. West shifted to his top spade. Declarer won and cashed the ace and king of diamonds, noting with pleasure that both opponents followed suit. The diamond jack then was overtaken with the queen, and a club was led and finessed. Now the six of diamonds was a potential second entry to dummy. The curious feature and the lucky one for declarer was that he held the diamond six and North the seven spot, instead of vice versa.

What Today Means

If November 6 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m., from 5:45 to 7:45 p.m. and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

Most of your expectations are likely to be realized. Procrastination is apt to make some people slow in making decisions on this date, so patience is a virtue you will have to practice. There may prevail a feeling of skepticism regarding excuses to be sure that you have a thoroughly logical one, before offering any. Complicated problems might be the reason for some of your friends acting peculiarly and it will perhaps be advisable not to judge anyone harshly on this occasion.

SAYS CABINS ARE FIT TO LIVE IN

In reply to questions raised by Mrs. Dorothy Buever on the floor of the Legislature on Tuesday, Dr. Richard Pelton, city medical health officer, stated yesterday that there were not more than six lots of cabins in the city and all were in a sanitary condition and fit for habitation. Cabins rented for approximately $4 per month. The health department realized they were not ideal dwellings, but if they were demolished or condemned, present tenants would be unable to afford better quarters. His department would be pleased to see such buildings removed, but only if financial arrangements were made to take care of occupants. Dr. Pelton stated MORE RUSSIANS TO DIE MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP)—Twelve death sentences were imposed today on livestock breeders for allegedly raising livestock dead. Five of the condemned were in Leningrad Province and seven in the State pig breeding farm in Moscow Province.

CIGARETTES IN LOOT

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barjon, M.D.)

ACQUIRING RELAXATION OF MIND AND BODY IN TREATMENT OF HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

When an individual learns that he has high blood pressure, he is apt to feel that as his blood vessels will not stretch properly, any unusual exercise or exertion, or eating certain foods may so increase the blood pressure that a blood vessel will break and he will have a "stroke" or a "heart" attack.

Now it cannot be denied that a stroke or a heart attack may be caused by a broken blood vessel, due to exertion or over-eating, nevertheless the "fear" of such a thing happening spoils the entire life of the individual, and in the majority of these cases there is no need to follow such strict rules.

Dr. John Oille, University of Toronto, in The Canadian Public Health Journal says, "In treatment of hypertension (high blood pressure) one must do nothing harmful. Doctors should not cut meat, protein (eggs, fish) or salt out of the diet of such patients. Unfavorable suggestions, such as instilling fear of strokes and heart failure should be avoided. By reassurance, education and quieting drugs, apprehension and excitement should be reduced. Hypertension sooner or later helps to produce blood vessel trouble—hardening of the arteries—but only about twenty-five per cent of patients with hardening of the arteries have an increase in blood pressure.

"Little is known about the cause of hardening of the arteries, and most of the factors causing this hardening are beyond control. But focal infections (teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder) can be removed, fatigue and mental strain can be avoided. Calmness of mind should be cultivated and one should go about work without hurry, worry or mental tension and learn to relax mentally and physically.

"There is nothing alarming in the increasing death rate from blood vessel disease—hardening of the arteries—because over fifty-five per cent of these deaths from heart disease occur in persons over seventy years of age, and over seventy-five per cent in persons over sixty. The average span of life has greatly lengthened."

This advice from Prof. Oille—keeping calm, learning to keep relaxed mentally and physically, going about our daily tasks without hurry or worry—as given to us all in this public health journal should bring great relief and reassurance to those who have or think they have high blood pressure.

CRUEL
A musical-comedy star, no longer youthful, joined a touring company, business was not very good, and tempers suffered accordingly. Relations became somewhat strained between the star and the juvenile lead.
There came a knock at the star's door.
"Who is it, and what do you want?" she demanded, sharply.
"There's a lady in front who'd very much like to see you. She says she was at school with you. Shall I show her in?"
From the corridor came the voice of the juvenile lead: "Wheel her in!"
Mrs. Brown—"I hear your son 'burned up the track' at the sports last night."
Mrs. Smith—"Yes, it's perfectly true. I went down to the track to see for myself, and sure enough it was a mass of cinders."

Ottawa, Montreal and Hamilton All After Play-Off Berth in Interprovincial Union—Winnipeg Blue Bombers to Meet Calgary Bronks in First of Two-Game Series in the West

TORONTO, Nov. 5 (P)—The questions to be answered on the East's football books, this week, centre around the Interprovincial Union, where the fight for a second play-off berth is as scrambled as eggs on a breakfast plate.

With two weeks to play, Toronto Argonauts have captured one big four play-off spot. That is the only sure thing about the union's standing for Ottawa, Montreal and Hamilton all are within two points of each other for the coveted second place. A ready solution to the pile-up would be a victory tomorrow for Argos in Montreal, and Tigers at home.

There is a growing conviction that University of Toronto Blues are the College Union's outstanding team. So no one expects McGill Redmen to do anything to upset that belief at Toronto, while the Western Mustangs and Queen's Gaels differ at Kingston. Bama Imperials have a return date at home with Hamilton Panthers—which is nice for Imperials. Last week they whipped the inexperienced Panthers, 24-6, and they should find it at least as easy to roll up that margin again for their seventh straight Ontario Union championship.

Because they are scheduled to meet in the last game of the regular league season, Ottawa or Montreal eventually must fall by the Big Four wayside. But to bring

BOMBERS, BRONKS READY

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6 (P)—Strategists of Winnipeg Blue Bombers are prepared for safe, easy football by Calgary Bronks when the powerful Rugby machines meet here tomorrow afternoon in the first of the two-game series for the Western Canadian Rugby crown.

Bronks are expected to play a careful game with the object of returning to Calgary for the November 11 contest with a good chance to grab the laurels held last year by Regina Roughriders.

Those who like to place money on the classic are few this year. Odds will be about even when the teams kick off at Osborne Stadium at 1:30 M.S.T.

Bronks are weakened by absence of Howard Hurd and Ray Olsen, while Bombers will likely be without Art Stevenson, great hooper and runner. A recent knee injury to Stevenson is still bothering him. Carl Cronin and his twenty-one Bronks arrived tonight, and went through a short workout at Osborne Stadium.

Determined to toss everything into the battle, Bombers were sent through final practice, when defensive tactics and aerial work were polished up.

Swimming Classes Are Great Success

Here is the Friday class in The Daily Colonist "Learn to swim" campaign, held at the Crystal Garden and now in its third week. This group of youngsters enter the pool sharp at 4:30 p.m., once a week, forming part of the 600 children who are benefiting by this free six-week course offered by The Colonist in the interests of water safety. The instructors state that all the classes are coming on in great style, and there will be few, if any, who fail to qualify for the handsome diplomas which will be given those passing their elementary tests at the close of the course.

NOTRE DAME TO FACE PANTHERS

Pittsburgh Is to Clash With Irish Gridders in Feature Game in East

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (P)—Tomorrow's United States football festival offers striking opportunities for the collegiate underdogs to chew large chunks out of the title hopes of pace-setting favorites.

All but three of the current "top ten" on the national ranking list encounter opponents who have either been subjected to rough treatment already or are going nowhere in particular.

The exceptions comprise Pittsburgh's unbeaten Panthers, who collide with Notre Dame's Fighting Irish at South Bend; Fordham, which entertains another rugged rival in Purdue; and Ohio State, challenged by Indiana's hustling Hoosiers.

Opponents of such other undefeated top-nosers as Alabama, Baylor, Nebraska, Yale and Dartmouth also can let themselves go.

Kilrea Returns to Detroit Ice Club; Pettinger Hurt

DETROIT, Nov. 5 (P)—Jack Adams, manager of Detroit Red Wings hockey team, announced today the recall of Wally Kilrea from Pittsburgh Hornets to replace C. Pettinger, injured in last night's opening National League game at Toronto. X-rays revealed Pettinger's left leg broken in two places, but no broken bones. The lanky centre is expected to be out of action for ten days.

BEATS BURNING STAR IN CLOSE FINISH TO TOP MONEY EARNERS

Triumph Gives C. S. Howard's Colt Golden Crown Of the Turf—Surpasses War Admiral For Year With $167,142 Won—Nine Juveniles Racing Today in $15,000 Added Futurity

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (P)—Sea-biscuit today because of an injured Seabiscuit, C. S. Howard's big bay colt, leaving nine other juveniles to contest tomorrow's sixteen-hundred-dollar $15,000 added Futurity.

The triumph sent Seabiscuit's earnings for the year to $167,142, outstripping War Admiral's $166,580. Their rivalry was confined to the cash registers, a heralded race between the two champions failing to develop.

Seabiscuit raced the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:57.2-5, three-fifths of a second faster than the track record shared by Gallant Knight and Dark Hope. The four-year-old handicap king, topweighted under 130 pounds, paid $20, $230 and $280.

Burning Star gave the champion a hard fight, finishing half a length back for second place. Shandon Farms collected $1500 and bettors $340 and $320.

Caballero H. owned by Mrs. Ethel E. Jacobs, won the third prize of $1,000 and paid $2.80. J. A. Manfuso's Anoret took $350 for fourth.

H. P. Headley's Menus, two-year-old champion, was retired for the day.

Three victories in six starts, plus a world record of 1:51.5 for six and a half furlongs in the Belmont Futurity gave the chunky colt his championship. He earned $67,825 this year.

The mile and one-sixteenth futurity, richest purse of the Maryland Fall season, will gross approximately $35,000, with all but $5,000 going to the winner.

W. S. Kilmer's entries, Nedday and Sun Alexandria, are probable favorites. Nedday won the mile Walden Handicap at Pimlico, Tuesday, and Sun Alexandria scored in the Spalding-Lowe Jenkins Handicap at Laurel.

Top weight of 122 pounds went to Headley's Dah He and Bourbon King, C. W. Whitney's Dauber and The Chief, and A. G. Vanderbilt's Red Pepper. Weights of other entrants: T. B. Martin's Galapagos, 119; Sun Alexandria, 119; Jacala, 119.

Edward Friendly, also will draw support. She won the Selma Stakes at Laurel.

Top weight of 122 pounds went to Headley's Dah He and Bourbon King, C. W. Whitney's Dauber and The Chief, and A. G. Vanderbilt's Red Pepper. Weights of other entrants: T. B. Martin's Galapagos, 119; Sun Alexandria, 119; Jacala, 119.

W. Parry and Carey Martin defeated H. J. Davis and H. Heisterman, 4-2, and 1.

W. Parry and R. W. Gibson defeated Alan Taylor and R. C. Field, 1-0, and 1.

Three of Victoria's top ranking golf professionals and Jimmy Todd, the southpaw shotmaker, who holds the British Columbia open and city championships, will stage another of their interesting exhibition matches Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at the Gorge Vale course. Todd will be teamed up with Phil Taylor, Oak Bay pro, against Joe Pryke and Freddy Clunk, Colwood and Gorge Vale professionals, respectively. Twice before this quartette have met in recent months and the Todd-Taylor combination have stroked their way to victories by the narrowest of margins. A large gallery is expected to follow the match as the public is invited to attend.

Hockey Coach Resigns

PHILIPPOUS gave up financial arrangements was given by both Coulson and Manager Walter Hunter as the chief reason for the resignation. Coulson also complained he did not have a free hand in choosing players.

HUSKIES FACE BEARS TODAY

University of Washington and California in Feature Grid Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 (P)—Gleeful supporters riding the University of California bandwagon on the road toward the Rose Bowl picked the unbeaten Bears to knock over Washington tomorrow in the most important of three Pacific Coast Conference football games.

Despite the probable loss of their star halfback, Vic Bottari, who has a bad "charley horse," the Bears were top-heavy favorites over the Huskies, who have lost two conference games, won one and tied one.

Stanford's Indians, fired up 40 their highest spirit this season, will meet Southern California's Trojans on about even terms, at Los Angeles. Stanford is still in second place, behind California, despite a drab scoreless tie with Oregon State last Saturday. The Trojans and record includes two defeats.

Another fairly evenly-matched affair will pit Oregon's Webfeet, in the conference cellar with three defeats and a single victory, against Washington State College, at Portland. Oregon rested last week-end while the Cougars, beaten only by California, but tied twice, have had four tough games in a row.

Two major undefeated teams will put their records on the block when Santa Clara's Broncos take on little San Jose State College, at San Jose, and Montana's Grizzlies clash with Gonzaga, at Missoula.

ESQUIMALT CAGE GAMES TONIGHT

Commander Edwards Placed Third on Men's List By Provincial Executive—Mrs. Edwards and Jean Campbell Are Given Places

(Special to The Colonist)

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Two Victoria women and one male tennis player were ranked well up in the British Columbia Lawn Tennis Association ratings for the year released here tonight, following a meeting of the executive. Mrs. J. C. I. Edwards and Miss Jean Campbell, Victoria, were placed fourth and fifth on the women's list, respectively, while Commander Edwards, also from the Capital City, was third on the men's line-up for the year just finished.

Don Cameron and Russ Hawes, both of Vancouver, topped the hard-court ratings, with Cameron in the lead. Fourth berth went to Ron Sidaway, Vancouver, and the next place to Phil Pearson, another Mainlander. Al Ritchie was sixth. Jack Brown, noted Vancouver star, was not rated due to insufficient data.

Eleanor Young, former Canadian champion, headed the women's ratings, and Susan Milne, Vancouver, was given the runner-up position. Caroline Deacon and Mrs. MacCrimmon, shared the third slot, and then came Mrs. Edwards and Jean Campbell. Miss A. Milne was not given a ranking due to lack of data.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

It isn't in the cards for any player to be consistently successful in attempts to get the most out of every club in the early part of a round. Using a driver off the first tee is a good example of this point. Some players get away with it some of the time, but, as a rule, most players don't get away with it. And there is a very good reason why they shouldn't.

To start out with, the idea of setting the maximum distance out of any club is like trying to get the greatest amount of efficiency out of an engine that is brand new and has not been thoroughly lubricated. In many ways the human body is like a machine. It requires loosening up, lubrication and tuning up, all of which can't be done in a minute—it takes time.

When you start a round, you should give your muscles and joints ample time to loosen up and get into the proper working order. This can best be done by taking it easy on all the long shots and over-clubbing for shots through the fairway. If you find that you have a shot where you generally use a number six iron, take a number five, and so on. By using the longer club you can swing easier and be sure of reaching your objective. After a few holes of this you will be right on your best game.

ONE UP TO HIM!
The young lad continued to flash his torch in an inspection of the jeweler's window, despite the loud approach of the policeman on the beat.

"Caught you this time, haven't I?" said the constable, as he made a grab for the lad.

"Not quite," came the boy's reply, as he neatly dodged beneath the outstretched arm of the law and dashed off down the street.

The constable, thinking of his sergeant's stripes, followed, until suddenly the boy wheeled round, rushed back to the door of the jeweler's shop and knocked loudly on it.

He was immediately let in, and the policeman, running up completely out of breath, was just in time to hear the boy exclaim: "I say, dad—I've found a champion way of training for the school sports!"

"I Wish You Wouldn't Wear That Shirt When We Play Checkers—You Get Me All Mixed Up!"

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

By Fred Neher

"Can You Think of Anyone Else We Ought to Send an Announcement to?"

A SLIGHT ERROR

It was one of mother's busiest days. Her small son, who had been playing outside, came in with his pants torn. His mother helped him change to another pair, but in an hour or so he was back, his pants torn again.

"You go right upstairs, remove your pants and mend them without any pants on!" his mother ordered.

Sometime later she thought of him and went upstairs to see how he was getting on. The torn pants were lying on a chair but there was no sign of Johnnie. Returning downstairs she noticed that the door to the cellar, usually closed, was open, and she called down, loudly and sternly, "Are you running around down there without any pants on?"

A deep voice answered, "No, madam, I'm reading the gas meter."

Jane Dixon Says:

IT IS TOO BAD THAT THE MOTHERS AND FATHERS OF THE MANY GIRLS WHO WRITE TO THIS COLUMN, ASKING HOW THEY CAN BREAK AWAY FROM THE BONDS OF FALSE PARENTAL PRIDE, CANNOT BE EQUIPPED WITH AN INTELLIGENT SOCIAL SENSE.

Working girls make the best wives.

This is the advice of Cornell University's department of rural social organization to students seeking the answer to a happy marriage state.

Cornell, situated in Ithaca, N.Y., is one of our first-line institutions of learning, taking a high and a just pride in the number of successful men and women it has sent from its campus to help do the world's work.

Therefore, the voice of Cornell is the voice of an authority to which we do well to give heed.

According to the department, the way to assure a successful marriage is to choose a girl who has worked before becoming a bride. Among the "good bets" are girls who, before marriage, took active parts in the affairs of their community or girls who were responsible housekeepers in their own homes.

The greatest hazard of all for the potential husband, according to the department, is the girl who, after finishing school stays home and takes no responsibility in the home, or a job, in the community. She is a continual sit-downer when there is any work to be done, character to be built, help to be given. She just sits heavily, waiting for something—usually a man—to turn up.

Too bad the mothers and fathers of the many girls who write to this column asking how they can break away from the bondage imposed upon them by false parental pride, can not be equipped with an intelligent social sense.

What a record of frustrated ambitions, restlessness, mental, moral and physical degradation these parents who think their girls are in order to make ladies of their daughters, they must turn them into sloths and parasites.

"Since I've been old enough to remember wanting to do anything definite I've planned to take a business course and become a secretary. Imagine how I felt when, after graduating from high school last Spring, father forbade me doing anything about it. It isn't that he can't afford to send me to business school. He gives me everything I want except what I really want—to do something on my own. He says I'll stay home until I find myself a good husband. So now I'm miserable and hate everybody, including myself."—Rebel Daughter.

So runs one letter now on this desk. Another reads:

"I've had a fine musical education and want to use it for something beside parlor performances. I have a chance to teach piano in a music school for small children. Mother won't hear of it. She says my place is home, that she won't have people saying her daughter has to teach for a living. She won't even let me help her with the housework. When I start to do something to help her she gets angry and says: 'Go practice your music, child.' After papa and I spent all that money on lessons, why should you be thinking about drying dishes?" If I can't find a way out soon I'm afraid I'll lose interest in my music. I suppose mother thinks she's being kind, but really she's ruining everything for me. How can I make her understand?"—S.T.

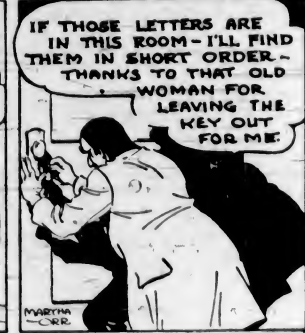

My advice to this girl is to stop trying to make mother understand and to take the job in the music school. Seniority, even parental seniority, does not give one the right to crush hope and stop development in the younger generation.

Who can doubt but that the two girls who wrote these letters would be better women for freedom and development than for frustration and suppression? The better women make the better wives.

It is to be hoped the young men of Cornell and other young men who hear or read it will profit by the advice offered and will look for their helpmates among young women who know the value of a dollar because they have earned dollars, and who know the meaning of work because they have worked.

DUNCAN GROUP IS ORGANIZED

With a membership which is expected to exceed forty, young Duncan business and professional men inaugurated a Junior Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday evening, and heard addresses from officers of the Victoria organization, who had traveled Up-Island by chartered bus, to wish them success.

Thanks for the help and interest extended by the Victoria contingent was voiced by Mayor James Greig. J. Barton Creighton, Duncan editor, who is president, gave credit for the formation of the Junior Chamber to George McMillan, secretary of the senior organization, and spoke briefly upon the possibilities of service which lay in the future.

Work of the group was outlined by Ernest Harris, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber, while Leslie P. Osborne, president of the British Columbia Junior Chamber of Commerce, offered them warm encouragement in their undertaking.

T. E. Watkins declared the Junior Chamber of Commerce was growing faster than any type of organization on the continent, and Capt. Norman Foster, secretary of the Victoria Junior Chamber, explained the work which had been undertaken here, and extended congratulations to Duncan directors.

The inauguration of the Up-Island organization was moved by Mr. MacMillan, who proposed for its slogan: "It Can Be Done in Duncan."

NEW FILM ACT IS HIGHLY PRAISED

British Legislation Will Protect Empire Industry, Says Kenneth J. Bishop

The new Cinematograph Act, which has been considered in Great Britain since early this year, and which was recently given second reading in the British Commons, will be a protection to the film industry throughout the Empire.

In the opinion of Kenneth J. Bishop, president of Central Films, Ltd., the act will extend the British quota system under an amended form for another ten years, and insists not only on higher quality films but increased cost, it is said.

Plans which have been considered for some months past by Central Films, Ltd., and which have been previously outlined by Mr. Bishop will become effective under the new regulations. These plans include the creation of a second sound stage, in one of the exhibition buildings at the Willows, or possibly construction of a separate building. In any case, expansion will mean considerable expenditure by the company, to be spent locally.

It is understood that the company's eleventh picture will go into production about November 18. While details of the cast of the picture, which is to be entitled "The Devil in Ermine" is not yet known, the leading actors and technicians are scheduled to arrive here November 12.

Everything was reported in readiness for the annual puppy campaign. Arrangements were made for Comrades H. T. Webber and A. I. Dyson to visit the schools of the district on November 10 to give short talks on the aims and objects of Memorial Day.
